

I hope to grow, learn and explore while building friendships within the OceanPath family and the Bequia community.

The Youth Film Initiative (YFI) provides holistic arts education programs for youth living in Bequia. The initiative offers training and educational opportunities while providing participants positive outlets of creative expression. The YFI bridges the knowledge divide often found in school systems by catering to the different ways individuals process information. It empowers youth by utilizing their creative talents to create positive social and environmental transformation.

I am connected to the Bequia community in many ways, including through my Master's research, participatory filmmaking, and working with senior high school students. I have been blown away by the commitment and willingness of the community, in particular the youth, to be active agents of change. I am excited to continue contributing to their on-going efforts and successes!
